

$10,000 Training Grants Available for 4 GPs

Are you interested in learning more about and practising integrative (wholistic) medicine?

Are you an active GP with a provider number who graduated less than 15 years ago?

If you have a genuine interest in learning new complementary medicine skills and developing into a GP offering integrative medicine services, then YourHealth can help you achieve your goals.

YourHealth is the leading provider of Integrative Medicine services in Australia with wholistic medical centres in Sydney, Melbourne and Brisbane. These centres combine conventional medicine with complementary medicine to offer patients a range of wholistic, preventative health diagnosis and treatment options.

Each centre has a team of between four and six GPs that all have post-graduate training in Nutritional Medicine and one or more other complementary medicine modalities. Common additional modalities include: Natural (bio-identical) hormone treatment, Western herbal medicine, Acupuncture, Chinese herbal medicine and Homoeopathy.

With over 60% of Australians using one or more complementary medicine services per annum, the demand for GPs with this expertise is expected to rise dramatically over the next few years. So to enable you to develop integrative medicine skills, YourHealth are now offering four YourHealth training grants of up to $10,000 each for the following YourHealth centres;
